

The United Sportsmen's Association was founded by individuals who love outdoor recreation and for many of them the land and its renewable resources represents their lively hood.

There are a number of issues that affect outdoor recreation including:

Hunting and Fishing rules and regulations.

Public and Private access to the lands.

Taxes and Permits and Leases.

Proposed Land Development.

Management of Predators, endangered Species and Migratory animals.

Mining, Logging, Re-forestation, Oil and Gas exploration and drilling.

United Sportsmen's Association encourages and promotes Outdoor Recreation and works to inform its members and the general public about issues that may have a negative effect. The Association works with government officials and law makers to ensure the views of those passionate about Outdoor Recreation and the people that make a living off the land are heard.

The United Sportsmen's Association is a non-profit organization that relies on the generosity of its members. The founding members and corporate sponsors have made significant contributions that benefit all members.
